Re: Calmoseptine Cream

Dear Sir/Madam:

I wanted to tell you a little story about my daughter and the use of your product.

On September 2, 1997, my husband and I welcomed a beautiful baby girl, Hannah, into our world.

On September 4, 1997, we watched in horror as our daughter was taken away from us, only 48 hours old, to be transferred to St. Christopher's Hospital for Children because she would not eat.

Upon our arrival at the hospital, we saw Hannah in an incubator with a tube in her nose and an IV in her delicate little arm. There were all sorts of wires and tubes coming from everywhere.

On September 6, 1997, we learned that Hannah would need to have a major operation, a colostomy, because she was diagnosed with Hirschsprung's Disease, a lack of ganglion cells in the intestine. Our worst nightmare had come true. Something was wrong with our first baby.
