Dear Mr. Sharshan:

I am enclosing several of the pictures of the acid burn area and have described the treatment used in most cases. We used Saline initially to cleanse the area and I also used Healing Touch techniques frequently during the early weeks of treatment. The physician ordered Silvadene cream and cleansing with soap and water. We did that several days, but changed to cleansing with warm water. We used the Silvadene twice daily on the more severe areas, and the Calmoseptine on the outer edges until the dead tissue came off. After the black eschar came off, we used Calmoseptine alone, because it seemed to help dry up the area better.

Mrs. A. and I, as well as the home health nurses, have been amazed that this elderly diabetic would heal so well in this amount of time. I believe that prayer, Healing Touch, as well as the medications and techniques we used played a major role in this case. I have been well pleased with your product, and would recommend it for other acid burns.

Sincerely,

Julia R. [redacted] RN
