Dear Mr. Sharsan:

It was a pleasure to speak with you on the telephone a few days ago. For years, I have been suffering with rectal itch and burning. This is no small problem for someone who spends most of his working day sitting at a desk or in a car. I also exercise regularly aerobically and with a weight machine. That became curtailed because of my problem.

When my doctor sent me to a surgeon, I got two pieces of good news. First, I do not need surgery, because I have a skin condition, not hemorrhoids. Second, the surgeon gave me several samples of CALMOSEPTINE, along with a suggested change in my diet regimen. Let me tell you, CALMOSEPTINE is the only medicine that I have ever used that works!
