Re: Calmoseptine Ointment

I am a Home Health Nurse and ran across your product. I think it's great! My Mother is 84 years old, and is chairbound from a CVA. I had constant problems with skin breakdown in her sacrum area. She is also incontinent, so that added to the problem.

I tried several products, including mattresses. Calmoseptine is the only product that prevented skin breakdown and promoted healing. It must be the calomine in your product?

I tried to persuade our local K-Mart pharmacist to order your product, and stock on the shelf. He said that several people had come in requesting your product. No one in this area carries it. He read the product contents and was impressed. I love to sell a product that I believe in.
