Dear Calmoseptine, Inc.,

Several years ago, my wife attended an ASA conference. While she was there she attended a workshop and was given some samples of your product and a video. She brought the samples home and put them in the medicine cabinet.

For many years, I have suffered an extraordinary amount of pain due to some sort of chronic foot infection. This infection causes the soles of my feet to split wide open and bleed at times. Nothing seemed to help except staying off of them and applying petroleum jelly, which would soften them, but then they would split and bleed again.

During one severely painful episode, my wife suggested that I apply Calmoseptine to the cracked areas on my feet. The pain immediately subsided and for the first time in days, I could walk on them. Within a few hours the cracks had begun to close. Calmoseptine is a miracle, as far as I am concerned and I have continued to use it ever since.

Sincerely,
